Secretary of State Cordell Hull Inducted at Special Friday Meeting

DOYLE, KAYSER ATTEND

Fifteen Members of Fraternity Present; Reporters Crowd Hull's Office

Secretary of State Cordell Hull was initiated into honorary membership of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary activities society, at noon last Friday. The ceremony took place in the Secretary's office in the historic old State, War, and Navy Building, and was attended by members of the George Washington chapter of the national society.

Conducting the initiation were Provost William Allen Wilbur and Wendell Bain, president of the local chapter. After the short ceremony Secretary Hull expressed appreciation and thanks for the honor bestowed upon him. He was presented with the O. D. K. charm.

Secretary Hull was chosen for honorary membership in this society, regarded all over the country as the Phi Beta Kappa of university activities, because of his outstanding career as judge, legislator, and more recently as an internationalist and leader in the movement for world peace. As Secretary of State he led the delegation sent by the United States to the Pan-American Conference in Montevideo, recently culminated.

Fifteen members of the George Washington chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa attended the ceremony, among them Dean Henry Grattan Doyle and Prof. Louis Elmer Kayser, but they were almost outnumbered by the representatives of the daily press, who busied themselves snapping pictures until finally forced to retire so that the initiation, which is secret, might take place.

Student Life Wants Rigid Chaperonage

Council Member Calls It Superfluous; "Don't Come Anyhow," He Says

The curiosity which has been disquieting Student Council members may in some degree be satisfied with the revelation by Dean Henry Grattan Doyle, head of the Student Life Committee, that the joint session which the latter desires with the Student Council is for the purpose of establishing and providing means of enforcement of more rigid chaperonage rules. The session, scheduled for February 8, and postponed on account of the illness of Dean Doyle, will be held in the near future, the dean stated.

In general, the Student Life Committee's reason for desiring the concurrent assembly, he said, is to gain the Council's support. When informed of the purpose of the joint session, one influential member of the Council stated that he considered any tightening of chaperonage rules superfluous. After all, he reasoned, none of the prominent persons whose names appear on the lists of chaperons care to come to campus affairs. The easiest and usual thing for them to do, he said, is to merely come and stay for only a second or to neglect to come at all.

Smith Next Speaker In Broadcast Series

Speaker on the George Washington radio program next Monday night will be Prof. Charles Sidney Smith, professor of classical languages. The address is scheduled for 9:20 p. m. and will be broadcast over Station WMAL. Professor Smith has chosen for his subject "N. R. A.—133 B. C.," and will deal with the experiment of Tiberius Gracchus in that year. It was Gracchus who through rather doubtful legal means succeeded in appointing a commission to take some of the lands from the wealthy Roman senators and in dividing it among the poor.

Speaking on the same program last night, Professor Frank Mark Weida, associate professor of mathematics, talked on "Nature and Use of Statistical Method."

Panhel Prom Is Postponed Until After Middle of April

The Panhellenic Prom, originally scheduled for March 23, will be postponed until sometime after the middle of April according to the decision made at a meeting of the Panhel Council last Friday, February 16. The reasons for the later date are the facts that the Interfraternity Prom was scheduled for March 16, only one week before the Panhel Prom, and that the orchestra and place desired could not both be obtained for March 23.

Cue and Curtain Thespians Hard at Work on Rimplegar Comedy

Two facts concerning "Three-Cornered Moon," which will be presented on March 1 and 2 by Cue and Curtain, stand out at this time, according to a statement made by Newell Lusby, production manager. "One is that the play will be an even bigger success dramatically than 'Louder, Please,' and the other is that it will be an even bigger success financially."

"Three-Cornered Moon," he went on to state, "should appeal greatly to the student body. It is the story of an American family, the Rimplegars, so

Dr. Buchanan Heads List of Economics Society Initiates

Dr. Daniel H. Buchanan, associate professor of economics, was initiated into Alpha Kappa Psi, national commerce fraternity, on Saturday, February 17. Other initiates were Don Charles Candland, Theodore L. Ferrier, Richard E. Lane, George M. Pollard, Milton J. Powell, Derryfield N. Smith, John M. Smith, Allen W. Stewart, and Ralph L. Wiser.

Clinton D. Vernon and Vernal T. Worthington conducted Court of Honor proceedings as a prelude to the initiation. The initiation was supervised by Richard W. Maycock, president of the local chapter, and Edward D. Robertson, master of rituals.

Hatchet Reporter Put to Work When She Invades Ghoulish Rendezvous Of Cue and Curtain Stage Scene Painters

If you go down the basement steps of Building D, through a dark corridor into a darker room, out a door on the right, turn to the left, then turn left again and knock twice at a door from which issues a great deal of hammering and banging, you will be greeted by two disreputably dressed but vaguely familiar young gentlemen. You will be greeted with open arms, too, as I found out when I stumbled into the door of the Cue and Curtain workshop, stronghold of the club's stage crew (namely, Newell Lusby and ...).

The over-all welcome was, sad to say, because of my devastating chair, but because stage crew help is few and far between. I found the temperature within the workshop even colder. I did not notice the icicles in the sink as I warmed my hands over a feeble little electric grill. The twelve-by-eighteen workshop was filled with paint, wooden frames, brushes, glue, one small piece of

Reunion and Banquet for Alumni Will End Medical School Event

DEAN MCKINLEY TO SPEAK

Attendance Expected to Exceed That of Last June; Facilities of Interest

The second annual post-graduate clinic will take place Friday and Saturday under the auspices of the School of Medicine. The clinic, which was inaugurated last year to give graduates of the Medical school the opportunity to come in touch with the latest developments in the profession, will be attended by George Washington University medical graduates now in active practice in Washington and nearby States.

In conjunction with the clinic, the annual reunion and banquet of medical alumni of the University will be held Saturday night at the Mayflower Hotel. Dr. George E. Pfahler, professor of radiology at the University of Pennsylvania, will be the banquet speaker. More than 70 lectures, clinics, symposiums and demonstrations will be held during the clinic. The University hospital and medical school, and Gallinger Municipal Hospital will be the scenes of the interesting demonstrations, with many of the city's leading physicians who serve on the medical staff as well as medical scientists who are on the full-time faculty of the School of Medicine taking part.

Frosh Quint Beats Central Again, 53-32

Goldfaden and Russell Lead Cubs in 16th Victory; Score at Half, 18-14

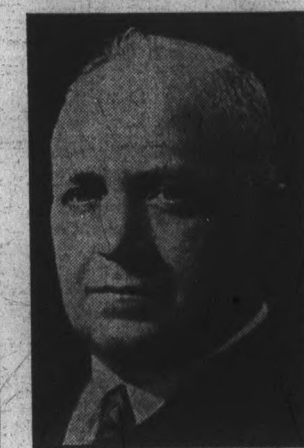

The freshman basketball five ran its total of victories to 16 yesterday afternoon by defeating Central High, 53-32, in the Central gym. Starting slowly, the cubs were held well in check by the schoolboys during the first half, which ended with Logan's men in the van, 18-14. The second half was quite a different story, however, as the frosh attack gained its full power and swept the light Blue and White team off its feet.

With his team pulling far ahead, Logan substituted freely and Central's score improved against the second-stringers. Goldfaden and Russell led the winners in scoring, with 14 and 11 points respectively, while Gregorio was high for Central with six two-pointers. Central fell before the cubs here 28-25 when the teams met early in the season.

Senior Section Information Requested for Cherry Tree

Seniors must submit their information for the senior section of the 1934 Cherry Tree on or before Friday, February 23. Eminent Scholar Will Address Graduates on "Government and Economics"

Dr. Harold Glenn Moulton, president of the Brookings Institution, will deliver the convocation address at the Winter Convocation of The George Washington University which, according to custom, will be held on George Washington's birthday this Thursday evening in Constitution Hall at 8 p. m. when 178 degrees and certificates will be awarded.

Dr. Moulton, who will speak on "Government and Economics" at Convocation, is an eminent scholar in the field of political economy having written a large number of authoritative works on banking, international finance, and economic issues. He was born in LeRoy, Mich., in 1883, and attended Albion College, Michigan, and the University of Chicago, receiving his Ph.D. degree there in 1914. He rose from the position of instructor at the Evanston Academy to associate professor.

Prior to coming to Washington in 1922, he was professor of political economy at the University of Chicago. Dr. Moulton was recognized with an honorary degree of doctor of laws when he delivered the convocation address at the University of Pittsburgh last Friday.

Take Clever Views Of Campus Scenes

Artistic Treatment of Photographs Makes Next Cherry Tree Outstanding

Were the photographs of campus views to be used by this year's Cherry Tree to be presented in photographic competition, there is little doubt but that they would receive one of the prizes, or come close to doing so. This was the frank opinion of a reviewer who was shown the artistic pictures to be used by the annual this year.

The entire group of pictures have been done in a "light and shade" setting with a highly effective angle used for every view. It is no exaggeration to say, this reviewer declared, that the sheer artistry of the pictures will make this year's book the outstanding of all Cherry Trees.

Subscriptions to the 1934 issue of the annual are being received at the Publications Office. Students who have not the full payment are still permitted to order the Cherry Tree on an installment basis. The managers warn students that it is imperative that copies be ordered in advance. Students who wish to buy the year book at the last moment will find themselves without one, since only a limited number of copies of the book are printed.

The final day for subscriptions will be set for some time in the near future, the managers announced. Subscriptions cost $4, for the full payment, or $2 on the initial payment of the installment plan with the last $2 paid upon receipt of the book.

Organization Meeting For Junior Jurists Postponed

Organization meeting of the proposed Junior Bar Association scheduled for last Friday evening was postponed due to insufficient time to complete adequately the preliminary work necessary to insure the complete success of an organization meeting.

While much had been accomplished, it was thought wiser to postpone the organization meeting in order that a number of preliminary discussion meetings might be held at which the underlying purposes and the desirability of the association might be discussed at greater length. Plans are under way to hold these meetings.

Kayser Will Form Academic Procession in Lobby C At 8 O'clock

One hundred and seventy-eight candidates will be awarded degrees and certificates at the Winter Convocation of The George Washington University which is to be held in Constitution Hall at 8 p. m. Thursday evening.

The candidates will form in the C Street lobby in the order in which their names appear on the program. Junior certificate candidates will wear the regular academic cap and gown, while the degree candidates will wear cap and gown and carry the appropriate hood on their arms.

"The graduate group will be of assistance if they will arrange themselves at the place indicated in the order as given in the program," stated Marshal Elmer Louis Kayser.

Before the graduation exercises begin, John Russell Mason, librarian, will give a concert of the three numbers, "Cornelius" Overture by Mendelssohn, "Allegretto" by Holms, and "The Toast" (to Washington, 1778) by Hopkinson.

Kayser Leads Procession The procession led by Marshal Elmer Louis Kayser will enter the hall promptly at 8 o'clock when Mr. Mason will begin playing the Processional March. President Cloyd Heck Marvin, Dr. H. G. Moulton, the deans of the colleges, and members of the faculty precede the graduates in the procession.

Colonial Debaters Meet Wash. & Lee

Murphy, Edwards Represent George Washington in Season's First Debate

Arthur Murphy and James Edwards have been selected for the team that will meet Washington and Lee here in the season's first inter-collegiate debate on Thursday, March 8, and at a return engagement Monday, March 19, at Lexington. The subject will be: "Resolved, That Hitlerism is to the best interests of the German people."

George Washington has debated with teams from Lexington for several years. In 1932, they met here, and last year entered into a home and home arrangement. Arthur Murphy, now a student in the Law School, comes to the meet as an experienced debater. As a member of the American University debate team for three years, he argued with such college teams as Colgate, Syracuse, and New York University. He was manager of the Debating Council in his senior year and is a member of the American University chapter of Delta Sigma Rho. In addition, he was vice president of Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science society, and was chosen a member of Brahmins, an honorary activities and scholarship fraternity, on the basis of his work in debate.

James Edwards, transferred from the University of Texas, has had two years' experience in debate as a member of the debating society there, and was one of several members of the intercollegiate debating squad. Both Edwards and Murphy are members of the Speakers' Congress, and the former is speaker protem. He is also treasurer of the junior class.

Carrie Roper Fulton, president of the club, has appointed Edith Williams and Edna Kimberly to the committee on costumes, and has assigned Frances Hand to publicity.

The casts as far as they have been chosen are as follows: "Pearls"—L. D. Johnson, the brother; Phoebe Kent, Peggy; "Suppressed Desires"—The wife, Jean Christie; the husband, Charles Turner; the sister, Elizabeth Bequette. Proms RULE ONE of The Hatchet's editorial policy states, in effect, "Never use the editorial column for advertising purposes!" But a cause—a particularly worthy cause—has need of a champion. Rule One is therefore, for the moment, set aside.

Last May the junior class presented a prom designed to honor a well-beloved campus dignitary as well as to inaugurate a series of really high-class social functions at the University. The net results of the prom were several unpaid creditors, a stain on the reputation of the junior class and the University as a whole, and a good deal of undeserved annoyance for the guest of the evening.

In October a special committee tried to reduce the deficit by giving a dollar dance in Corcoran Hall. Students weren't much interested; the deficit remained.

Steel Gauntlet now has taken up the cross, and will present a formal benefit dance tomorrow night at a nominal cost. The committee in charge has worked hard to give every guest his money's worth of gaiety and enjoyment.

It's a gallant effort. Surely, students will not allow it to be a fruitless one.—D.

"Meddlesome Maidens"

LAST week's Hatchet contained an account of a so-called "fruitless" joint meeting of the Panhellenic and Interfraternity councils, together with editorial comment describing as meddlesome the Panhellenic effort to bring the two groups together for a solution of common problems.

In a letter to the editor, William Hanback, Interfraternity Council member, rises to the defense of the women with the statement that the meeting was erroneously reported. He continues:

"Certainly it would be wrong to maintain the idea that the Interfraternity Council viewed the joint meeting as of no worth. Rather it was the consensus of opinion in this body that such a meeting was an excellent means for finding out what questions confronted the two groups and for achieving an understanding of respective problems, even though they might prove quite different.

"Furthermore there was no justification for the assumption that this meeting was the result of 'meddling' on the part of the Panhellenic Council. Rather, it was an excellent idea and one which met with interested approval by the Interfraternity Council. In fact, it is perhaps regrettable that such an effort has not been made before to bring together these two groups from whom much, if not most, of the propelling force of our student actions and ideas is derived."

The Hatchet stands corrected.—D.

To the Graduates

FINDING new ways of writing the periodic farewell to the graduating seniors is a hard job. The task is comparable to that of the metropolitan news reporter who is assigned to the annual groundhog day feature.

So we won't try to be unusual or original. We won't seek out lofty phrases and well-turned sentences with whom to speed our departing friends. We'll merely say what we ourselves would like to hear when we're ready to leave the University:

"Good-bye, Senior! We'll miss you. Good luck!"—D.

JUST BETWEEN US

By LUDWIG CAMINITA, JR.

DEAR Bert:

When I first received your letter asking me what was new on campus, my first impulse was to tell you "nothing." That is probably what most of us would have done had we been talking to you. But after some reflection I remembered that you hadn't been here since graduating a year ago. I further remembered that lesson in history when the prof said that contemporaries find it difficult at times to note changes because they are part of those changes themselves—and so don't notice the little differences, that crop up from time to time, which lead to progress.

So I began thinking just what had happened since you left. Here it is: For one thing, Prexy threatened to cut Cue and Curtain from campus activities. As a result, the "weaklings" suddenly realized they were not at all weak. They scurried around and are now self-supporting individuals. I suspect at times that Prexy knew they could do it all the time, and picked the psychological moment to throw a scare into them.

Then Ted Pierson and his Rousers Club formed a cheering section that was more than successful. So much so that the Athletic department discontinued the fireworks with, I understand, some little saving of expenses. Sorry to report though that Ted isn't getting much cooperation now. The Rousers weren't even thanked for their work and are having great difficulty in receiving adequate financial support. Too bad, for it certainly lent much color to some drab football games.

Always abreast with progress, Prexy kept in step with the Federal Administration and instituted a course in Russian almost immediately after Roosevelt announced the recognition of the USSR. Not only that, Bert, but the University has granted 30 scholarships to high school honor graduates, tuition free. On top of that almost 200 students will come here through the Emergency Relief program announced by Harry Hopkins.

I might add that 700 of our own students are being helped through school. Just between us, sotto voce, Prexy is doing no little philanthropic work himself—though his beneficiaries don't always know where the money comes from.

No letter of this sort should exclude Louis Malkus whose efforts toward the formation of a Symphony orchestra resulted in the formation of a group destined to gain recognition within a short time.

Lambie House, we will have you know, is no longer "no man's land." A beautiful lounge, cozy, too, has been installed down stairs. Men are invited. Perhaps some day the men will have their own smoking room.

There is ever so much more that has happened that I can't take the space for it, Bert. Some of it hasn't happened though. The Student Council is still doing duty on an election basis, and elections are as listless as ever. In fact the last one was almost farcical. The senior council was elected by mere application. No voting was necessary except in one case.

Student Council reorganization is as distant as ever, apparently. Despite fervent campaign promises, the elected made one feeble effort to gain their point and then settled down to a discussion as to whether they would get keys or "diplomas."

But don't let the last discourage you, Bert. Remember the first half of the letter and when those Reading, Pa., students of yours are ready to go to college, you know where to send them. But by that time, George Washington will be so well known nationally that they'll not even consult you. They'll just pack up and come right down to Twenty-first and G Northwest.

Regards, C.

ENROLLMENT in the George Washington University Law School exceeds that of Columbia University Law School. The New York school has 818, according to a report of the dean, June 30, 1933, while there are 724 registered in George Washington Law School.

The Cherry Tree was awarded high rating last year by the National Scholastic Press association. This rating, based on the results achieved with the facilities available, was surpassed by only three other annuals in the country.

Tuition of five leading law schools in the country is approximately double that of the George Washington University Law school, which enjoys an equal rating. Compared with around $224 annual tuition at George Washington, Columbia's annual charge is $300, Cornell, Harvard, and Pennsylvania is $400, and Yale is $450 annually.

Music

By GRACE E. GIFFEN

WEDNESDAY at 8:30 the National Symphony will play an unusually interesting program. It opens with a "Suite of Sixteenth Century Dutch Tunes" arranged by Dr. Kindler. This music, aside from its intrinsic beauty, will be interesting to the music analyst because of its archaic forms. Guionar Novaes, the Brazilian pianist, will play the Schumann Concerto in A minor for piano and orchestra. This concerto combines the need for expert technique as well as inherent musicality. The program continues with Mendelssohn's "Scherzo" from the music he wrote for "Midsummer Night's Dream." Mendelssohn wrote this music when he was 17—an amazingly young age for a composer. The orchestra concludes its program with the rarely-heard "Fire Bird Suite" by Stravinsky. The entire program is unusual in its scope, ranging from the sixteenth century, through the classicists, to this century.

On Tuesday, February 20, Rachmaninoff will be heard in a concert at Constitution Hall. Mr. Rachmaninoff holds no brief for modern music, believing that it is a retrogression. As a consequence his program will delight the lovers of classical music. He will play selections from Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin, his own "Etudes Tableaux," and Liszt. The only modern selection will be the "Children's Corner Suite," by Debussy.

On March 2, the Emory Glee Club from Emory University will be heard in a concert at the Mayflower Hotel at 8:30 o'clock. The concert will be followed by a dance. Information concerning tickets may be obtained from Maude O'Flaherty in the Columbian College office.

OUT IN THE WORLD

By GEORGE T. JARVIS

HERE'S a new reason for going to church—or is it so new?

"Go to church, even if it is hard for you to take. You'll meet the best citizens. It isn't so important for you to see them as it is for them to see you."

Young men of the Harvard Law School listened to this and similar advice on friend-getting one day last week. The speaker was President E. W. Evans of the American Bar Association, lecturing on "Things Not Taught in the Law School."

The gentleman's frankness is refreshing. The problem he talked on was a practical one, which confronts all of us quite as much as newly-hatched lawyers—the problem of making "contacts."

But with all due respect, we like the old fashioned idea that church is a place for another kind of "contact." You know what kind.

The Man whom church-goers profess to worship was fearless in denouncing respectable folk of his own time whose religion was for appearance.

He said, "And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are; for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily, I say unto you, they have their reward."

We don't learn in history that George Washington got many birthday telegrams, 150 years ago next Thursday.

Let a President have a birthday now, however, and little green dollars pile up for the telegraph companies while yellow sheets pile up for weary clerks to handle.

Still it remained for a college president, we college folks note, to wire this different kind of birthday greeting:

The telephone rang the other day for Mrs. Maude Hutchins, wife of President Hutchins of the U. of Chicago. The call was from Postal Telegraph, and she was told they had a message. Then three girls sang the message over the wire:

"Happy birthday to you, happy birthday to you,
"Happy birthday, dear Maude,
"Happy birthday to you!—from Robert."

When you get to be a college president, or even a thoughtful husband, don't try the same stunt.

In the first place, so many people wanted the telegraph company to do the same thing for them the next day, that the company had to put thumbs down on this "irregular" service.

In the second place, why not favor the Scotch? Get a friend in the G. W. Glee Club to sing over the telephone for nothing.

Other Campi

COLUMBIA University reporters, questioning people on the street, discovered that five out of six men think that college students are loafers. The sixth spoke only Chinese.

And here's one from way out west where men are men. Ping-pong must be a dangerous game out there. At any rate, one student player at the University of Montana got a six-inch gash on his forehead while playing. We hate to think what would happen to that lad on the football field.

Upon observing the notice "Dates assigned for English exams," a University of California student remarked, "There are hardly any more functions here where a gentleman can go stag."

At the University of British Columbia there is a punctuality machine that flashes a cheerful "welcome" to prompt students and a sarcastic "late again" to those who amble in tardy. It was invented, of course, by a harrassed instructor.

Will an intoxicated hen lay more eggs than her sober sister? This is the problem the agricultural department of the University of Wisconsin has set out to solve. It comes from a report that an intoxicated chicken lays three eggs to one of the sober hen.

certain no student would turn you down if you asked him in a nice way, and it would certainly clear the debt, the University's standing, and the class reputation. Think it over.

PERSONALS

A bull-session lasting far, far into the night discussed and rediscussed the strange turn of affairs at the Acacia House dance last Saturday wherein Pierson appeared without Prichard, Madigan without Mitchell, Rhinehart without Eller, and Haley without Heller.

At the Valentine ball of the Young Democrats at the Capitol last Friday night, a certain Phi Sig pledge, well known for his winning ways, was observed to monopolize the attention of Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall during intermission. Janie McSwain, Phi Mu, presided as chairman of the affair which, by the way, was a lovely one.

Ken Petrum, John B. Adams and Henry Price attended the Delta Tau Delta Southern Division convention at Atlanta February 15 to 17.

Sidelights on the Varsity Club dance last Saturday night: The lack of G. W. women, there being only 12. . . Dick Castelli's certainty that the depression was over after having had his money returned with the information that it was a "freebie" to outsiders. . . the return of C. Manley Fesler to old haunts. . . singing of Coach Logan.

Grant Vandemark, having returned from foreign escapades, is again registered in the University.

Three carloads of Sigma Chi's returned Sunday evening from formal initiation rites held in Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa. Among the high spots were a birthday of one of the fraternity brothers celebrated "in the usual way" (to quote Ray Heimburger); the meeting up with Betty Crahe, former G. W.-ite and now a Pi Phi at Dickinson; a stop-over at the Gettysburg chapter; and the visiting of a "rat race," which, as explained to one not initiated, is a dime-dance hall where no cutting is allowed nor introductions required.

The dinner Sunday at the Theta Delta house following the initiation of seven new brothers, was a miniature father-son affair, with Hon. Frank Buck, Congressman from California and former national president of the fraternity, and Provost William A. Wilbur as co-guests of honor with the initiates. Sons of both men are active Theta Deltas.

Friends are hoping for the speedy recovery of Harriet Atwell, who, after a measles "scare," is recuperating from an attack of grippe.

Joe Dansansky, Herman Friedlander, Maurice Mench and Milton Blackman attended the Rho Tau reunion of Phi Alpha fraternity in Richmond last week-end.

Katherine Kramer is busy these days with trips to Baltimore, where she is organizing a new chapter of Beta Mu, one of her several sororities.

"We'll see you at the Fountain!"

You've probably heard that before . . . and didn't have to be told it was the QUIGLEY Fountain. W.'s best known personalities to the corner. Hope we'll be seeing you, too!

Prizes and Entertainments Will Be Features of Novel Dollar Prom

Tomorrow night will mark the inauguration of the "new deal" for collegiate dance lovers. Steel Gauntlet presents a formal ball at the Admiral, with entertainment and prizes, and attractive music for the sum of $1 per couple. Dancing begins at 10 p. m., with the popular Trojans furnishing the rhythm, "sweet and hot."

An attractive door prize, a number of prizes for a "spot dance" (a waltz), as well as a floor show during intermission are a few of the added attractions that have been included in the program arrangements for the Admiral Hotel dance tomorrow night.

Snappy Dances Promised
Aside from the interest of the affair itself, one that will give a full-fledged "gala" setting, the dance is expected to draw large attendance because it is primarily a benefit. President Marvin, Provost Wilbur, and Dean Doyle will be guests of honor.

"We realize that the term 'benefit' often keeps people away from dances, but I do not hesitate using it for this dance," said Joe Dansansky, chairman of the committee. "The money received from this affair will be turned over to help clear the junior class deficit incurred last year at the prom. But because this is a benefit dance that deficit, we have not used that as an excuse to give a drab function asking people to 'donate' their money."

A "New Deal" in Dances
Dansansky continued, saying that though he expected the student body to rally to the support of the senior class and help erase a deficit that has caused some embarrassment to the institution as well as "some of our really beloved teachers," he expected tomorrow's affair to be the beginning of a long series of successful balls presented at popular prices.

Social activity has been neglected here because they have either been primarily closed functions or they cost too much when they were thrown open to the public, he added. "There is no reason why everyone shouldn't have the opportunity to attend a formal dance, which has every advantage for a good time, and at a decent price. That is what we are doing here."

Initiations, Dances Crowd Schedule

Saturday night, February 17, was a busy one for George Washington students, what with dances and initiations holding forth in a majority of the fraternity houses.

The Acacia fraternity was host to a large crowd at the chapter house at which music was furnished by the "Motormized" LeGrande Orchestra, and the evening was pronounced a success by the many students present.

The Kappa Alpha house was the scene of festivity Saturday night as the members and their guests enjoyed a formal dance to tunes provided by the Washington Colonials.

Reports from the Varsity Club indicate that those who attended their dance Saturday night enjoyed the evening greatly.

Sigma Nu held a formal dance at the chapter house Saturday night.

Benefit Bridge to Be Given By Sigma Kappa Alumnae

The Washington Alumnae Chapter of Sigma Kappa Sorority will give a bridge party at Southern Dairies Saturday, March 17, for the benefit of its Scholarship Loan Fund.

The committee includes Miss Irene Plasterio, Miss Lee Hardell, Miss Dorothy Sornborger, Miss Helen Drew, Miss Martha Turner, Mrs. Frances Walker Bassett, and Mrs. Isabella Brown Krey.

Loading a pipe, son, is like building a fire

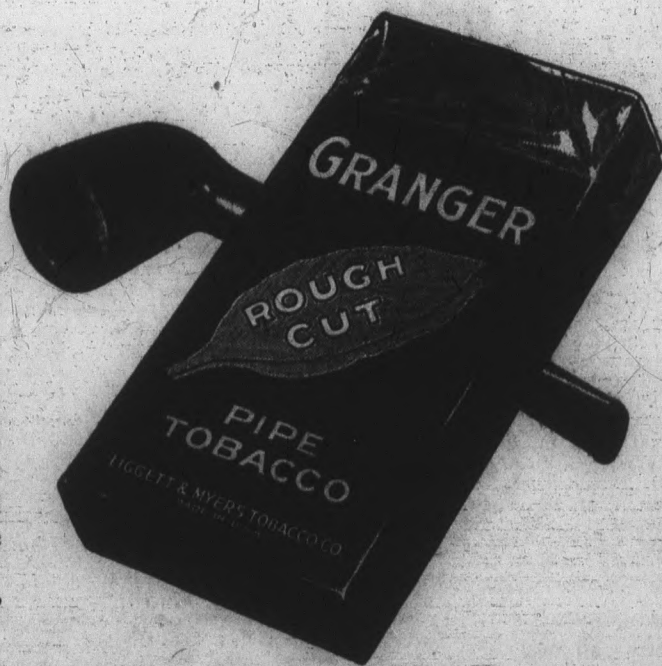

"NOW if you want to build a fire you've got to have the right kind of chimney, and you've got to have the right kind of wood, seasoned right and packed right in the fireplace. If you've got all this, it's easy to light up."

"It's pretty near the same way in smoking a pipe. Now if you've got Granger Tobacco—the right kind of pipe tobacco—any old pipe will do."

"And if you put in a pinch at a time and pack it down good and tight—the way to load a pipe—all you need to do is strike a match."

"Granger smokes sweet and cool right down to the bottom of the bowl."

"That's pipe comfort, I tell you."

CUE AND CURTAIN CLUB PREPARES TO PRESENT THREE-CORNERED MOON

Jooney that nobody knows what anybody else is talking about. It goes on from one situation to another, from laughter to satire to sentiment, and back to laughter."

Tickets Going Rapidly

Tickets for the show, now on sale in the Cue and Curtain office, Building Q, are going rapidly. "Every indication," said Floyd Sparks, business manager, "is that we will have another sell-out." The office is open daily, and students are advised to get their tickets early. Students who had tickets reserved should call for them immediately, as no reserves will be held after this Thursday.

Meanwhile, rehearsals have been going on daily, and Constance Connor Brown, director, has announced the final cast. Ruth Molyneux will play the part of Mrs. Rimplegar, that dazed, rattle-brained creature whose gestures are uncertain and whose actions are delayed.

Gusack Plays Daughter

The part of Elizabeth Rimplegar, a girl of about 23, with large, serious eyes and no dignity at all, is played by Adele Gusack. Dr. Stevens, the only one on the stage with any degree of sanity, is portrayed by Karl Gay. Walter Pick plays the part of Donald, the poet. He is a long, lanky person with entirely too many arms and legs.

Kenneth, Douglas, and Ed, the three Rimplegar brothers, are played by Joe Danzansky, Leonard Stevens, and Edgar Saugstad, respectively. Kenneth is from Harvard, Douglas would like to go on the stage, and Ed is 18.

Ann Beach plays the part of Kitty, a Brooklyn beauty considerably made up. Elizabeth Orth plays as Jenny, the Czechoslovakian maid.

Staff Works Daily

The production staff, under Newell Lusby, is working daily in the basement of Building D, and can use a few assistants for painting and carpentry. An entire new set, a replica of the one used in the original production, is being constructed from a model made by Miss Brown.

WHO'S WHO ON THE CAMPUS

When John Madigan first came from Dunkirk, N. Y., to register at the University four years ago, he had one consuming ambition—to become a professional newspaper man. Today, as editor-in-chief of The Hatchet, he is well on the way to realizing his desire.

In his first year at school, John started out on The Hatchet as that journalistic buck private, the cub reporter. By his diligence and the experience already gained from working on the Dunkirk dailies, he won rapid promotion, becoming successively senior reporter, department editor, associate editor, and finally, last April, editor-in-chief.

The same initiative, perseverance, and knowledge of the newspaper game that marked John's rise in the ranks have caused his regime during the past year to become perhaps the most brilliant in the history of Hatchet editors. They heaped, moreover, success in his chosen career in the not far-distant future.

In the few intervals when he is not planning for or working on The Hatchet, John represents campus publications on the Student Council, holding the chairmanship of the constitution and by-laws committee of that body. He is president of Pi Delta Epsilon, professional journalistic fraternity; a member of Steel Gauntlet, junior activities society; and a pledge to Omicron Delta Kappa. His social fraternity is Theta Delta Chi. He has only one hobby—journalism.

John makes it a point to look over all copy before it goes to press. But he's a modest person. So he isn't going to see this story until it appears in print.—D.

The first post-graduate clinic, held last June, was attended by 150 physicians from many Eastern States and from Iowa, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Attendance this year is expected to exceed this number. Of particular interest to the medical alumni are the facilities for clinical work, research and teaching recently acquired by the School of Medicine, which are exceeded by those of few other medical schools in this country.

Beer, Folk Songs, German Requisites, Says Garnett

"A weakness for good beer and ability to sing folk songs are prime requisites in Germany," stated Dr. Christoffer B. Garnett, recently before the Swisher Historical Society.

Dr. Garnett studied at the Goettinger Universitaet in 1928. Returning there last summer, he said, he was surprised to note striking changes in the German social, intellectual and political attitude. Continuing, Dr. Garnett declared, "The optimism which permeates the Germans, even those who at first opposed the present regime, is almost unbelievable."

Experiencing a complete change from their defeat in the week previous, the pinner of Sigma Alpha Epsilon rose to the heights Saturday and upset the league-leading T. U. O. team in two out of three games, throwing the situation in League B into an uproar with three teams sharing the top rung in the standings. By their feat, the Sig Alps helped the Sigma Nu's and Sigma Mu Sigmas to advance, as they were taking two out of three from their opponents, Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Chi.

Sigma Nu, riding on the wave of Russell's consistent bowling, took the Delta for two games and will meet T. U. O., its most dangerous rival, in a crucial match for the league lead Saturday. Russell's 353 and Woodward's 325 were high sets for their teams. T. U. O. pinner, way below their form of last week, fell in two out of three games to the consistent rolling of S. A. E. and dropped down into a tie for leadership. Losing the first game by three pins, they seemed to lose heart, and but for a slump by their opponents in the third game and Hill's 127 game might have fared worse.

Phi Sig Retains Lead
Phi Sig continued its streak, featuring a high set of 361 by Plant, a new high for the season, and kept its hold on first place, a game ahead of the oncoming Acacia. Acacia, greatly aided by the addition of Haley, took all three from K. A. and kept on the heels of the leaders, whom they meet in a match this week which will go a long way in deciding the eventual winner. Haley's 119 featured a 552 count for the first game, while Rice duplicated it for a 534 in the second. A bad slump in the third game obliterated only by a worse one of their opponents, and Acacia managed to slide through, 436 to 421.

S. M. S. went into the tie in its league by taking two out of three from S. N. Low scoring was prevalent for the match, a 405 being the highest game registered. Kappa Sig advanced into third place of League A, with two out of three from T. D. X. and is in position to make the best of the dog fight between the leaders this week.

High for the evening were Plant, P. S. K., 361 high set; Hill, T. U. O., 127, high game; P. S. K., 554, high team game; S. N., 1,548, high team set.

Due to the small number of applicants signed up for the annual ping-pong championship, Director of Intramurals Sexton announced that the tournament may be called off if more interested persons do not sign on the dotted line. Only seven or eight persons have filled in their names on the chart in the athletic office and if there are more who wish to enter the contest they should sign up at once.

Frosh, Emerson Clash Tomorrow; Eastern Triumphs

Winding up their court season against Emerson tomorrow, the frosh basketballers expect a real contest, as the prep school lads always turn out a scrappy, well-trained five. Two of the Emerson quint are Archie and Lee Fenlon, brothers of the famous Johnny Fenlon.

It was just another case of history repeating itself when Eastern, the city scholastic champs, downed the yearlings on Wednesday for the second time this season (score: 33-31), although they gained some consolation by crushing Swavely Prep the next day, 58-18.

The last period rush of the classy Eastern quint that won the game by the margin of a single basket was a repetition of the fast finish that defeated the frosh early in the year. Logan's men built up a large first period lead and the score at half was 19-8, but, led by Tommy Nolan and Dean, they were completely outplayed in the final session by the inter-high champions. Everett Russell was high scorer with 10 points while Jake Goldfaden played his usual smooth floor game.

Russell and Goldfaden also were the stars in the beating the frosh handed Swavely Prep at Manassas on Thursday, scoring 14 and 16 points respectively, as the cubs ran away with the game.

Colonial Tankmen Defeated by Johns Hopkins Swimmers

Ghormley Sets New Pool Record for 200-yard Breast Stroke; Score 34-25

Suffering the first defeat of their season, the Colonial tankmen bowed to Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, Saturday night. In a closely contested match, the Jays outpointed G. W. by virtue of a victory in the last event, the 200-yard relay. The final score: 34-25.

Dyer Ghormley, versatile Colonial performer, captured the 200-yard breast stroke in the fast time of 2:42.3, a new pool record for the Knights of Columbus' Baltimore tank. Bonner gave G. W. a first in the fancy diving with Ghormley a close second; Captain Max Rote won the century after a bad turn had prevented his placing in the 50-yard event. The Blue Jays won a hard-fought 150-yard backstroke with McGill first and Hain, of G. W., second.

The score stood at 29-25, Hopkins leading, when the teams entered the final event, the relay, which the Colonials lost by less than a length.

Meet Duke Saturday

Coach Al Lyman's proteges will endeavor to regain their somewhat shattered prestige when they meet the Duke mermen, Saturday night at the Ambassador pool. The meet, which will get under way at 7:30, will bring together two evenly matched teams. Last year the teams swam to a 33-33 tie; and this season both teams have met and defeated the Virginia natators. However, the Devilfish owe their victory over Virginia to a new swimming rule which provides that in case of a tie the team winning the relay also wins the meet. Thus Duke defeated Virginia 43-42, while the Colonials defeated the Cavaliers 34-32.

50-yard free style—Won by Levi (Hopkins); second, White (Hopkins); third, Vedder (George Washington). Time, 0:25.

Dive—Won by Bonner (George Washington); second, Ghormley (George Washington).

Boxers Encouraged By House Passage Of New Fight Bill

The success of the District boxing bill which has passed the House of Representatives and is now in the Senate committee has given Harry Kleiman and the Squared Circle enthusiasts new hope. Kleiman is now planning an active program for the club and hopes to get new men interested, in addition to the men who participated last year.

Bill Permits Charge
Until admission can be charged for collegiate matches in Washington, boxing cannot prosper among the colleges. George Washington has been represented in the ring several times in the last decade, but was forced to give up boxing because of its high cost with no income to defray expense. With the possibility of the passage of the new bill, which permits admission charges, boxing may come into its own here and Kleiman is reorganizing the club with the hope of laying the foundation for a varsity boxing team.

Goldstein to Aid

Bobby Goldstein, Southern Conference lightweight titleholder at Virginia for three years, and now a law student here, will act as Kleiman's assistant for the remainder of the year and will take full charge next season. The addition of Goldstein is expected to strengthen the club considerably and Kleiman hopes to bring out good material for Bobby to work with.

The first meeting will be held tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. Afternoon sessions will be held Mondays at 3:30 in the future.

Old Man Winter Retards

Mountaineer Grid Work

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 19.—Charles "Trusty" Tallman, named head football coach at West Virginia University Friday, certainly needs a break with the heavy schedule his team faces next fall, but the weather man won't give it to him. If the zero weather continues, the Mountaineers may not get their spring practice until June. In a normal winter the squad is weeks behind other Eastern eleveners, but Tallman is starting out quite inauspiciously.

Varsity Meets W.&L. Saturday in Finale Victory Over Generals Would Give Colonials 11 Tri- umphs in 15 Games

With an amassed total of 10 victories in 14 starts the Colonial five awaits their final encounter of the season. Washington and Lee will be met in the H street gym on Saturday night in what is expected to be a very evenly matched contest.

Last year the O'Leary-trained five played 20 games and secured 15 victories, losing by narrow margins to such stellar teams as St. John's of Brooklyn and City College of New York. To maintain the high average that they have established in the past two seasons, the Buff and Blue will have to take a victory from the Generals in this week's engagement. During the 1932-33 season the Pilemen maintained an average of .750; a victory over Washington and Lee would bring their average to .783; and a loss to the Generals would run their average down to .666.

Squad Rests

Following the victory over Wake Forest on Tuesday, Coach O'Leary called a two-day moratorium before he began work for Saturday night's fray. The rest period gave Bill Noonan a chance to recuperate from the bad cold which handicapped him in the Wake Forest game; other members of the team that were nursing minor injuries are now in first rate condition. Most of the week has been spent in scrimmages between the first and second teams who have been carrying a great deal of the scoring honors, showed well in the daily workouts.

Coaches Issue First Call For Baseball Candidates

The first meeting of candidates for the varsity baseball team will be held Monday night, February 26, at 8:00 o'clock, in the gym. All men interested are asked to report to Coaches Morris and Farrington. Plans will be discussed for the season and preparation for gym workouts of battery candidates will be made.

Water Polo Tonight

Although the Colonial water polo team was swamped by the Shoreham six last week, they will attempt to stage a rally when they engage the Ambassador team tonight at the Ambassador pool. The match is open to the public, and student body support is solicited.

Reserves Recalled; Regular Five Wins

Wake Forest Puts Up Battle Before Bowing to Howell Forces, 12, to 31

Tying the score four times and taking quick advantage of Coach Ted O'Leary's alternates the basketball representatives of Wake Forest College threw a scare into the Colonial quintet Tuesday night before finally succumbing, 42 to 31.

The Carolinians were first to score; then forwards Howell and Smith sent the Buff and Blue flashes into a good lead which was soon erased by the visitors who tied the count at 12 all. In the second period the Howell-Leemans-Smith combination began to function in machine-like fashion as the 25 to 14 half time score would indicate.

O'Leary Makes Substitutions

Entering the third quarter, Coach O'Leary sent in an entirely new quintet composed of the hitherto little used Colonial reserves. For a moment it looked as though the reserves would maintain the rapid pace of the regulars, but soon the Foresters changed from an ineffective defense to an effective offense and drew up to within four points of the leaders. At this point the Colonial destiny director reconsidered, recalled the reserves and permitted the veterans to draw out into a nice lead at the end.

Howell, according to custom and reputation, carried off scoring honors with an account of 11 points. His teammate, Leemans, was a close second, with 10 points.

SPORT AXE

By ROBERT HERZOG

The subject of this week's lecture will be the athletic office. You've never been there? Well, the most prominent thing in the office (outside of Sexton) is a tremendous picture of Geo. Washington, with an inscription that would have you know, "losers quit, winners fight on." Startled by the phrase you proceed timidly. On your way through the outer office you'll have to duck a little to avoid a card board that boldly announces "No Loafing"—but don't pay any attention to that. It's one of those things that applies to the other fellow.

No one speaks as you enter, apparently the noise of the confab has drowned out your footsteps; but if the truth be known—being a stranger you'll have to talk your way into the sanctum. Had you been an old timer it would have been sort of silly to hold up a discussion while greeting you. Consequently you need expect no boisterous welcome to this gathering.

Your first impression upon entering will be that a couple of Chinese laundry men are determining the possibilities of the NRA. But honestly folks, no one is angry. There will be no blood shed. All the noise is caused by a mere conversation. Benny Levitan, Jack Espey, Len Walsh and a couple of other regulars are settling some grave problem. They might be deciding the case of U. S. v. McCracken, or they might be discussing why that off-tackle smash which Plotnick called in the final quarter of the Kansas game failed. Whatever the discussion might be—the speech is fiery—the atmosphere is heated (partly by an electric fixture and partly by the talk). That's the sort of thing that a sports reporter has to wade through to collect news.

And here's what I found out: The freshman basketball team will not enter the local A.A.U. tourney despite the fact that it had a swell chance of winning. . . . Goldfaden, frosh forward from Jersey, is one of the smoothest performers that we have spied in some time. . . . with his aid the frosh often attain heights that would give the varsity an awful beating. . . . among new entrants is a frosh basketball player also from Jersey, Bakom by name, who was recently released from the G.W. hospital, he has a brilliant future cut out for him with his press agents announcing that he was an all-state performer for three years. . . . the new soap box which predominantly takes up space in the Food Shop is used by Senior Manager Fagelson, University

Colonial Marksmen Outshoot V. M. I. Cadets by Bare Margin of Six Points

Marano and Turnbull Absent as Butter-Fingered Squad Wins Lexington Match 1346-1340; Team Returns for Rigorous Schedule

Lexington, Va., Feb. 17.—Colonial gunners, in their first shoulder-to-shoulder fire combat, outshot the V. M. I. cadets here, today, 1,346 to 1,340.

In spite of the absence of two leading Buff and Blue rifers, Captain Marano, and Turnbull, and a "butter-fingered" squad, Parson's musketeers cracked down on their hosts by a bare margin of six points.

"Uneasy Fingers"
Manager Cross, in commenting on the close combat, stated: "The match, being under strict N. R. A. rules, with a 10-minute limit, partly accounts for the Buff and Blue's uneasy trigger fingers."

The Washington shooters return to the Capital City tomorrow to begin politician elegante, in his campaign broadcasts. . . . spring football will be starting any time soon. . . . baseball practice will open up shortly (in competition to football training). . . . following the Wake Forest game the basketball team was the guest of Calvin Griffith at a party in his home. . . . the annual Varsity House dance is over, need we discuss it? . . . consensus of opinion intimates that pro football will soon put an awful dent in the sides of college play. . . . Steve Hamas, the gentleman that won a decision over Schmeling recently, has a local tie-up. . . . Hamas was instrumental in the football victories of Penn State over G.W. in the seasons of 1925-26. . . . please don't question my accuracy. . . . you might verify the facts by contacting Jerry Sickler. . . .

RECOGNITION

Last week we used this column in an effort to reawaken the Squared Circle. We were successful, and following our suggestion Kleiman has taken as his aid Bobby Goldstein. A smart move. In testimony whereof we quote Bobby's history: Southern Conference Featherweight and Lightweight Champ in 1930, '31, '32; National Intercollegiate Lightweight Champ in 1932; Semi-finalists in Olympic tryouts, 1932; Spike Webb's all-time all-American team, and captain of the 1932 edition of the undefeated University of Virginia team.

perhaps the most rugged schedule of their entire season.

Having conquered V. M. I., the local riflemen will have a come-back next Friday night on the G. W. range, where they hope to muster sufficient strength to crack the bullseye and regain their lost laurels which the Buff and Blue shooters have stripped from them for the past two years.

Face Maryland

The Colonials face Maryland University, who just this week handed the G. W.'s their first taste of defeat for the season, by trouncing them, tentatively, 1,379 to 1,368, in a shoulder-to-shoulder fray on Saturday. Parson's musketeers also shoot a "Western Union" with V. P. I. this week.

Those representing the Colonials, and their scores, were: Neal, 276; Cross, 269; Martin, 268; Schmidt, 268; and Fletcher, 265.

Baker's "Daisies" Outsmart O'Leary's "Brain Trust"

Johnny Baker's Daisies definitely proved their right to the first-half title in Logan's "flower league" last Tuesday by beating the famed Brain Trust, 51-43. The game early showed unmistakable signs of being a thriller, although roughness rather than speed prevailed. A scoring battle between O'Leary and Frank Lee featured the contest with the former leading 20 to 19.

Each year Turkey and Greece ship us thousands of bales of fine tobaccos—

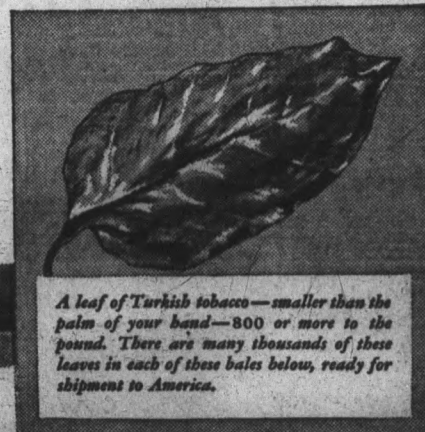

But why send 4,000

... because spicy, aromatic Turkish is the

It adds something to flavor and aroma

Then it blends and cross-blends them
